

Corporate Volunteering [1]

Corporate, or employee volunteering is one way organisations can get involved in Corporate Social Responsibility Programs. These have been growing in popularity and can help build a more committed, engaged, creative and energetic workplace.

Organisations that engage in corporate volunteering actively encourage their staff to volunteer. Individuals can often feel rewarded if they're given a chance to make a positive difference in their communities. Flow-on benefits can include better teamwork, leadership development and increased staff loyalty and morale.

Organisations can choose to offer staff time off each year to volunteer, or arrange a team day for volunteering.

We have many corporate volunteering opportunities available at Reclink Australia:

- Pre and post-event support at the Reclink Community Cup [2], community garden projects, the Great Peninsula Paddle [3], the Frank Galbally Cup [4], Run Walk Roll events, helping with food and beverage services etc.
- Sport and art program support such as umpiring, coaching, training, running art workshops etc.
- Administrative support
- Outbound calling

For more information about our Corporate Volunteering, please get in touch with our Fundraising and Corporate Partnerships Manager via email [5] or call 03 9419 6672.

Source URL: <https://www.reclink.org/support-our-work/corporate-partnerships/corporate-volunteering>

Links

[1] <https://www.reclink.org/support-our-work/corporate-partnerships/corporate-volunteering>

[2] <https://communitycup.com.au/>

[3] https://www.everydayhero.com.au/events/event_has_finished/21495

[4] <http://www.reclink.org/events/frank-galbally-cup-1>

[5] <mailto:gemma.egelson@reclink.org?subject=Corporate%20Volunteering>